Regulatory Alert

South Africa EMC/EMI Certification Service continues on-hold

In May 2015, the South African Bureau of Standards (SABS) placed all EMC/EMI Approval applications on hold due to a SABS internal preliminary investigation on non-compliance to processes and procedures.

Since June 2015, ICASA (The Independent Communications Authority of South Africa) has been in discussion with SABS on passing the responsibility of this certification back to ICASA.

ICASA have confirmed on 10 December 2015, that the agreement between ICASA and the SABS on EMC/EMI certification has not yet been approved and it is anticipated that a decision will now be reached in January 2016.

PCS will continue to monitor the situation, and keep customers updated.
